

Home, Darling: A Modern Play by Oberon Plays

Home, Darling is a modern play by Oberon Plays that explores the complexities of relationships, family, and home. The play follows the story of a young couple, Sarah and Tom, who are struggling to find their place in the world. They are both career-driven and ambitious, but they also long for a sense of belonging and connection. When they decide to buy a home together, they think they have finally found it. But as they settle into their new life, they begin to realize that home is not just a place. It is also a state of mind.

The play is written in a naturalistic style, with dialogue that is both realistic and insightful. The characters are well-developed and relatable, and the story is both moving and thought-provoking. Home, Darling is a must-see for anyone who has ever wondered what it means to find home.

Characters

- Sarah: A young woman who is career-driven and ambitious. She is also intelligent, independent, and strong-willed.
- Tom: A young man who is also career-driven and ambitious. He is charming, funny, and intelligent. He is also a bit of a workaholic.
- Jenny: Sarah's sister. She is a stay-at-home mom who is struggling to find her own identity. She is kind, loving, and supportive of her sister.
- David: Tom's brother. He is a successful businessman who is married with two children. He is a bit of a know-it-all, but he is also a good friend to Tom.

Setting

The play is set in a small town in the Midwest. The action takes place in the home that Sarah and Tom buy together. The house is a beautiful old Victorian home, but it is also a bit too big for them. As they settle into their new life, they begin to realize that the house is not just a place. It is also a reflection of their relationship.

Themes

The play explores a number of themes, including:

- The search for home: What does it mean to find home? Is it a place, a state of mind, or both?
- Relationships: The play examines the different types of relationships between family members, friends, and lovers. How do these relationships change over time?

- The struggle to find one's own identity: The characters in the play are all struggling to find their own place in the world. What does it mean to be successful? What does it mean to be happy?
