Interview 1: Bill Gates

In his interview with the FT, Gates discusses his views on technology, philanthropy, and the future of the world.

On technology, Gates says that he believes that the next big wave of innovation will come from artificial intelligence (AI). He also says that he is concerned about the potential for AI to be used for malicious purposes, such as creating autonomous weapons.

On philanthropy, Gates says that he believes that it is important to give back to society. He also says that he is particularly interested in funding research on global health and education.

On the future of the world, Gates says that he is optimistic about the future. He says that he believes that the world is making progress on solving some of its biggest challenges, such as climate change and poverty.

Interview 2: Warren Buffett
