

Six Lives in Indian Country: The Two Horsemen Nonfiction Series

The Two Horsemen Nonfiction Series is a collection of six books that tell the stories of six different Native American individuals. These books offer a unique insight into the lives of Native Americans and the challenges they face.

The books in the series are:

- The Education of Little Tree by Forrest Carter
- I Will Not Cease by Vine Deloria, Jr.
- Black Elk Speaks by John G. Neihardt
- The Lone Ranger and Tonto Fistfight in Heaven by Sherman Alexie
- Killing Custer by James Welch
- Crazy Horse by Larry McMurtry

Each of these books tells a different story, but they all share a common theme: the struggle of Native Americans to survive in a world that is often hostile to them.

The Education of Little Tree is a semi-autobiographical novel that tells the story of a young Cherokee boy growing up in the Smoky Mountains of Tennessee. The boy is raised by his Cherokee grandmother, who teaches him about the traditional ways of his people. The novel is a celebration of Cherokee culture and a condemnation of the white settlers who destroyed it.

I Will Not Cease is a memoir by Vine Deloria, Jr., a Lakota Sioux activist and scholar. The book chronicles Deloria's life from his childhood on the Standing Rock Reservation in South Dakota to his work as a lawyer, writer, and teacher. Deloria was a passionate advocate for Native American rights, and his book is a powerful indictment of the racism and oppression that Native Americans have faced throughout history.

Black Elk Speaks is a collection of interviews with Black Elk, a Lakota Sioux holy man. The book tells the story of Black Elk's life, from his childhood vision of the future to his participation in the Battle of Little Bighorn. Black Elk Speaks is a profound and moving account of Lakota spirituality and the history of the American West.

The Lone Ranger and Tonto Fistfight in Heaven is a collection of essays by Sherman Alexie, a Spokane-Coeur d'Alene writer. The essays explore the lives of Native Americans in the modern world. Alexie writes about the challenges of growing up on a reservation, the racism and discrimination that Native Americans face, and the importance of reclaiming their cultural identity.

Killing Custer is a novel by James Welch, a Blackfoot writer. The book tells the story of the Battle of Little Bighorn from the perspective of the Lakota Sioux. Welch's novel is a powerful and moving account of the battle and its aftermath.

Crazy Horse is a novel by Larry McMurtry, a Pulitzer Prize-winning author. The book tells the story of Crazy Horse, a Lakota Sioux war chief who led the resistance against the US government in the late 19th century. McMurtry's novel is a sweeping and epic account of Crazy Horse's life and the Lakota Sioux's fight for their land.

The Two Horsemen Nonfiction Series is a valuable resource for anyone who wants to learn more about Native American history and culture. These books offer a unique insight into the lives of Native Americans and the challenges they face. They are essential reading for anyone who wants to understand the true history of the United States.
